Hi!

I am looking for a place I can get behind and make my start. I am looking to become a project manager or a Web Developer. I am a few months away from graduation from UVU. I am really looking to get into a great place I can start at and move up.

 I am currently the General Manager for a corporate restaurant. I run good numbers and know how to manage financials and a team. I also have experience with managing a project at school. My other talents included design and basic web development.

With me you get:

- A headache free life - With on point communication skills you will have a pain free coordination with team members.

- More time to enjoy life - Having a highly organized plan is the name of the game. By having a well laid out pipeline, deadlines will not be missed and work will always come in on time.

- Confidence in your future - Loyalty is very important. I want nothing more then to succeed with the people i work with. My track record is proof of your future success.

- A sense of pride - You will always know that the work I bring will be high quality and reliable.

Here is some verbiage from former supervisors and colleagues.

Benjamin Baily(Marketing Director knoodle Advertising)
Get this guy immediately don't wait! A must to lead on any project. No one runs a team like Abe Raigne

Adam Sherman(Officer in US military)
Abe Raigne is a great addition to any team he will uplift productivity and positivity in any team

I look forward to hearing from you, so call and lets not waste time on a good thing.

By working together your work and home life will be better. You will be confident knowing that all your deadlines will be met, and the quality of work will always meet your expectations. Knowing you don't have to worry about work you will spend more time at home focusing on the things you love.

Abe Raigne

PS
I'm here to make you look good and succeed. Your success is my success. I know this is a good thing and we would go great together. So don't wait pick up the phone! Lets do this.
